REMINGTON
Sewing Machine
STILL STANDS
UNRIVALLED.

All competent judges acknowledge it to be the simplest, the easiest, the quietest and the most easily handled of any shuttle machine now in market. It will sew with perfect stitch, from the finest muslin to the heaviest and firmest beaver cloth, or leather, without change of stitch, needle, thread or tension. Its percentage of increase of sales in 1874 was 90¾ per cent, and 87¼ per cent. more than any other machine. In 1875 its ratio of increase was still greater, being 100 per cent. More than fifteen thousand other machines of first-class make have already been exchanged for it.

No person wishing a sewing machine can do themselves justice, whatever their prejudice, if they fail to examine the New Remington before purchasing. Five dollars a month will buy you a Remington at 35 BROADWAY.

The Great Reputation
Which VEGETINE has attained in all parts of the country as a
Great and Good Medicine,
and the large number of testimonials which are constantly being received from persons who have been cured by its use, are conclusive proof of its great value. It is recommended by physicians and apothecaries, As a Blood-Purifier and Health-Restorer, it has no equal.

VEGETINE is not prepared for a fancy drink made from poor liquors, which debilitates the system and tends to destroy health instead of restoring it.

Are not the many testimonials given for the different complaints satisfactory to any reasonable persons suffering from disease that they can be cured? Read the different testimonials given, and no one can doubt. In many of those cases the persons say that their pain and suffering cannot be expressed, as in cases of Scrofula, where, apparently, the whole body was one mass of corruption. If VEGETINE will relieve pain, cleanse, purify and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies, suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer, you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circulating fluid. It can be truly called the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER. The great source of disease originates in the blood; and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention. When the blood becomes lifeless and stagnant, either from change of weather or climate, want of exercise, irregular diet, or from any other cause. The VEGETINE will renew the blood, carry off the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels and impart a tone of vigor to the whole body. One conviction is, in the public mind as well as in the medical profession, that the remedies supplied by the Vegetable Kingdom are more safe, more successful, in the cure of disease, than mineral medicines. VEGETINE is composed of roots, barks and herbs. It is pleasant to take, and is perfectly safe to give an infant. Do you need it? Do not hesitate to try it. You will never regret it.

Cannot be Excelled
CHARLESTOWN, March 19, 1869.
H. R. STEVENS:—
DEAR SIR—This is to certify that I have used your "Blood Preparation" in my family for several years, and I think that for Scrofula or Cankerous Humors, or Rheumatic Affections, it cannot be excelled; and, as a blood purifier and Spring medicine it is the best thing I have ever used; and I have used almost everything. I can cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of such a medicine.
Yours respectfully,
MRS. A. A. DINSMORE,
19 Russell Street.

What is Needed.
BOSTON, Feb. 13, 1871.
HENRY R. STEVENS, Esq.:—
DEAR SIR—About one year since I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. VEGETINE was strongly recommended to me by a friend who had been much benefited by its use. I procured the article, and, after using several bottles, was restored to health, and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that there is no medicine superior to it for those complaints for which it is especially prepared; and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health.
Respectfully Yours,
O. L. PETTENGILL,
Firm of S. M. Pettengill & Co.
No. 10 State Street, Boston.

Gives Health, Strength and Appetite.
My daughter has received great benefit from the use of the VEGETINE. Her declining health was a source of great anxiety to all of her friends. A few bottles of the VEGETINE restored her health, strength and appetite.
N. H. TILDEN,
Insurance and Real Estate Agent
No. 49 Sears Building, Boston, Mass.

Gained Fifteen Pounds of Flesh.
SOUTH BERWICK, Me., Jan. 11, 1873.
H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:—
DEAR SIR—I have had Dyspepsia in its worst form for the last ten years, and have taken hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine without obtaining any relief. In September last I commenced taking the VEGETINE, since which time my health has steadily improved. My food digests well; and I have gained fifteen pounds of flesh. There are several others in this place taking VEGETINE; and all have obtained relief.
Yours truly,
THOMAS E. MOORE,
Overseer of Card Room, Portsmouth Co.'s Mills.

VEGETINE IS SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Newport Daily News.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1876.

FORTY YEARS AGO.

How woudrous are the changes, Jim,
Since forty years ago,
When gals wore woolen dresses, Jim,
And boys wore pants of tow;
When shoes were made of calf skin
And socks of home-spun wool,
And children did a half day's work
Before the hour of school.

The girls took needle lessons, Jim,
Upon the spinning wheel,
And practised late and early, Jim,
On the spindle, swift and reel;
The boys would ride bare-back to mill,
A dozen miles or so,
And hurry off before 'twas day,
Some forty years ago.

The people rode to meeting, Jim,
In sleds trimmed all of sleighs,
And wagons rode as easy, Jim,
As buggies now-a-days:
And oxen answered well for teams,
Though now they'd be too slow,
For people lived not half so fast
Some forty years ago.

O, well do I remember, Jim,
That Wilson's patent stove,
That father bought and paid for, Jim,
In cloth our gals had wove;
And how the neighbors wondered, Jim,
When we got the thing to go!
They said 'twould hurt and kill us all,
Some forty years ago.

Yes, everything is different, Jim,
From what it used to was,
For men are always tampering, Jim,
With God's great natural laws:
But what on earth we're coming to
Does anybody know?
For everything has changed so much,
Since forty years ago.

SUNDRIES.

Here is a centennial contrast. First, as "Poor Richard" had it in 1776—

"Farmers at the plow,
Wife milking the cow,
Daughter spinning yarn,
Son thrashing wheat in the barn,
All happy to a charm."

And now for the modern improvements in 1876—

"Farmers go to see a show,
Daughter at the piano,
Madam gayly dressed in satin,
All the boys learning Latin,
With a mortgage on the farm."

A bad policy—One that has run out.

A waste of "t"—Putting it in depot.

Something that will keep—An editorial on ice.—[N. Y. Com. Adv.

More than a match for any one—Two matches.

A good place for oculists—The sea eye-lands.—[N. Y. Com. Adv.

A considerate proceeding—sending a standing army to the seat of war.—[London Fun.

Muskrat jackets for ladies are coming in, on the ground that the muskrat is a sort of seal's kin.—[N. Y. Graphic.

A wag doesn't know why the school-ship should be all the time at anchor. If it is an apprentice ship it ought to be bound out.

It is proposed to have a regiment of tailors in the British army—probably to repair the breaches made by the enemy's artillery.

A Texan banking firm at Fall River has suspended. The rumor is that a cattle drover passed a bad ten dollar bill on them.—[N. Y. Telegram.

"Oh, we don't mind the fourth story," said an Ohio Congressman's wife in choosing Washington lodgings the other day; "we can go up and down in the ventilator."

"No, sir," said a weary looking man on a street car to an individual by his side. "I wouldn't marry the best woman alive. I've been a dry goods clerk too long for that."

"Affected with mental derangement incident to his employment in a brewery," is the San Francisco Call's description of a man who leaped from a fifth story window.

"Go out, young man; she's not here!" said a Pennsylvania preacher last Sunday, in the midst of his sermon, to a youth whom he saw standing hesitatingly in the doorway.—[N. Y. Com. Adv.

The President has no ear for music, and the carelessness with which he used to take Babcock's flute to rake the fire with was a constant menace to their friendship.—[Brooklyn Argus.

Detroit policemen don't seem to be very good marksmen. "I want you either to hit me or stop making such a blamed racket," said a thief in that city, at whom a policeman was shooting.

Rev. W. H. H. Murray has an article in the Golden Rule, advocating lying in bed in the morning, but there seems to be no particular necessity for us to paste it in our hat.—[Bridgeport Standard.

A young lady of seven Summers, when chided by her parent for jumping over a fence, wanted to know if this was not leap year.—[Rochester Democrat.

"Jack, how do you like the rector's daughter?" "Don't know; I've always seen her drunk." "What! the rector's daughter drunk?" "No; I."—[N. Y. Graphic.

Man—"Do you think it would be safe for me to cross this pasture?" Maid—"Well, the old bull don't like red very much, but if you will chalk your nose, I guess he won't attack you."

Governor Ryman of the San Francisco Minstrels, in considering "the school question," advises the abolition of all colleges, on the ground that "we have oarsmen enough."

Horace Greeley's advice to "Go West" was a glaring swindle. The fact that the Indians have been living West all their lives and are still poor, with scarcely enough clothes to hide their nudity, proves this.

"What do they always put D. C. after Washington for?" asked Mrs. Quilp of Mr. Q. "Why, my dear, don't you know Washington was the Daddy of his Country?" said Quilp, with a snicker.

At Hawkinsville, Ga., recently, one of the two convicts in the Pulaski county jail tore out part of the wall and escaped, and the other complained bitterly next day to the sheriff that unless the walls were mended so that he would be kept warm he'd go too.

The mayor of New York has received an envelope containing $300 and a note saying "This money belongs to the city." Can it be that it is a remittance from Tweed to be applied to his account? If it is, then he only owes $3,999,700.—[Boston Transcript.

A simple looking country lad, to whose lot fell the leading questions in the catechism, "What is your name?" replied, "Carrots!" "Who gave you that name?" "All the boys in the parish, sir," replied the red-haired urchin.

An exchange astutely remarks: "Boss Tweed has escaped from justice." If Boss Tweed desired to escape from justice, he should have stayed in New York. Outside of that city he is likely to run into her arms at any time.—[Danbury News.

An Americanized citizen was called on as a witness in a case before one of the justices lately, and when the oath was administered he raised both hands and said: "I shall spoke noddings what ain't drow, if ever I hope to die so quick as a minute!"

This is the kind of weather when a man sees his wife coming into the room with a scuttle of coal, and, after she has poured every bit of it into the top of the tall stove, says: "Darn it, [Eleanor, you ought to 'ave asked me to do that. But it's too late now."

A rural editor, wishing to be severe upon an exchange, remarks: "The subscriber of the—— in this place tried, a few days ago, to carry home some lard in a copy of that paper; but, on reaching home, he found that the concentrated lie had changed it to soap."

"Children," said a country minister, addressing a Sunday school, "Why are we like flowers? What do we have that flowers have?" And a small boy in the infant class, whose breath smelled of vermifuge, rose up and made reply, "Worms," and the minister crept under the pulpit chair to hide his emotion.

The Woman Suffragists of New Haven are discussing the question, "Are the women of the country more responsible than the men for the extravagance of the times?" But to a thoughtful mind it would seem that as long as men don't wear eighteen yards of cloth in their pantaloons there's not much need of considering the matter seriously.—[Norwich Bulletin.

At five o'clock the Fulton ferriage changes from two cents to one. There is not a more pathetic spectacle in New York than to see one of the solid men of Pearl street lean against Fulton market every day waiting for five o'clock. It is a strong soul capable of a great endeavor. Young man, imitate him.—[N. Y. Graphic.

A young Kentucky lawyer made his maiden speech in defence of a man charged with hog stealing. A gentleman who was present gives this as a literal report of the speech: "Gentlemen of the jury—My client is no more guilty of stealing that hog than a frog ain't got no tail. I thank you for your attention." Of course the man was acquitted.

There is a great many rules to make married life comfortable, but the golden rule is this: Go slow, and give each other half of the road. This rule is as simple and easy as milking a cow on the right side, and will be found as useful as ile to avoid hot journals and dri axles.—[Josh Billings.

A tramp, after the daughter of a New London gentleman had given him some food the other day asked her for some money, adding that the gift of a little money would save him "from something awful." This was a clincher which induced the young lady to furnish him with a little legal tender. Then she asked him what the awful thing was from which her liberality had saved him. He replied: "From hunting up work!"

THE DAY.

We regret to learn that the Boston Daily News has been suspended. It is said to have sunk $200,000.

The American Screw Company will move two-thirds of their machinery to Canada to avoid the tariff which protects manufactures.

Yesterday the lower branch of the General Assembly passed by a large vote the bill exempting from taxation edifices used for religious purposes, but without the land they stand on, or other church property.

A shocking domestic tragedy has occurred at East Lyndon, Vt. A well-to-do farmer in a moment of passion yesterday murdered his aged father and mother, and seriously, if not fatally, stabbed his wife, and subsequently put an end to his life by hanging.

Eight of the government officers convicted at Indianapolis of complicity in the whiskey frauds were sentenced yesterday to two years each in the penitentiary and to pay a fine of $1000. Hill, the ex-deputy revenue collector, got three years in the penitentiary and a similar fine, and Robb, the distiller, was sent to jail for one year. The sentence of John W. Bingham was postponed. Maguire, the collector at St. Louis, was permitted to plead guilty to dereliction of duty in not reporting the irregularities of distillers in his district, the charge of conspiracy being withdrawn.

PERIODICALS.

THE ELECTIC MAGAZINE.

The February number of the Electic is an excellent one. It contains a very fine steel engraving of William M. Evarts. The first article is entitled Modern Sorcery. It reviews several books by Prof. Crooks, Dr. Mahan and others in a fair and thorough manner and then passes to a very careful analysis of ancient sorcery with a view to showing its intimate connection with what is now called Spiritualism.

The second article is a charming paper on the weather. Everybody talks about the weather, but few people do it so well as the writer of this article. The style is peculiarly bright and interesting, and a good deal of information is pleasantly given. "Weather," says the writer, "is a 'girl of the period.' Like that conventional young person it is impertinent, imperious and unguidable; like her it is often brilliant, but easily bad tempered; like her it is sulky and gay by turns, with no avowable reason for being either; like her it dresses noisily; like her it holds its tongue lazily, or talks loud impetuously; like her it is, on the whole, a mistake."

"The True Eastern Question" is a valuable article by Edward A. Freeman. It is not a discussion of "England's traditional policy," or of Russian aggrandizement, but it is an eloquent plea for the rights of the slaves. "What the 'Eastern question' really means," says Mr. Freeman, "is the question whether a horde of invading barbarians shall still be allowed to hold the nations of southeastern Europe in bondage." "A Mahometan government can not, if it will, give real equality to the subjects of other religions."

"German Home Life," No. VII., is an admirably written paper on the characteristics and conditions of women in Germany. "There is no figure more poetic," says the writer, "than that of the ideal German woman; there is no actuality more prosaic than the flesh and blood reality, as she lives and moves and has her being." Confirmation in Protestant Germany "simply means, to those whom it most concerns, a long dress, visiting cards, a bouquet, a lace-frilled pocket-handkerchief, the adieu of childhood exchanged for the air of young ladyhood, and the potential Schlafrock and Morgenhaube for early hours. Visitors pour in to offer congratulations and presents; cake and wine and bustle pervade the domestic atmosphere; a droschky is hired, and the confirmed young Christian is driven out to pay visits and show off her finery."

The other articles are an interesting record of visit to "Charlotte Bronte's Birthplace," by Miss Georgiana M. Craik; an amusing article on "A Neglected Humorist" of the past generation—Foote, the dramatist; "Notes from the Crimea;" "The Wagner Festival of 1876;" "The Pleasure of Wealth;" and "Hymnus Responsorious," by the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone. Liberal installments of the two stories—"Her Dearest Foe," by Mrs. Alexander, and "Jonathan," by C. C. Fraser-Tytler, are given; and the editorial departments contain the usual variety of interesting and useful notes on literature, science, and art.

Published by E. R. Pelton, 37 Bond street, New York. Terms, $5 per year. Single number, 15 cents.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, FEBRUARY; 1876.

Harper's Magazine for February contains sixty-five illustrations, and an exceedingly interesting variety of reading matter.

The opening illustrated paper on Lyme treats not only of a town interesting as being the birthplace of the present Chief-Justice of the United States, but of a region selected for the commencement of empire by Cromwell, Hampden, and several English noblemen. The article carries us back over two centuries, and is full of interesting gossip, humor, and romance. It is a remarkable study in American genealogy. Lyme is especially memorable for its lawyers, "having produced more than any other town of its size on this continent," including eminent judges, senators, and governors.

Porte Crayon's "Confessions of a Candidate," with twenty characteristic pictures, illustrates some humorous features of district politics in the hill country of Virginia.

"Vassar College," by Anna C. Brackett, is an intelligent criticism, in the main favorable, of a representative female college. It shows how the girls live, as well as how and what they study; and the illustrations, of which there are fourteen, are the result of a happy selection of subjects.

The number contains two biographical sketches, both illustrated—one of the late Dr. John Todd, and the other of the Hon. Alexander H. Stephens. The article on Dr. Todd is contributed by George Cary Eggleston, and that on Mr. Stephens is from the pen of Henry W. Cleveland, formerly his private secretary.

Mrs. Mary Treat contributes some original and, to scientific readers, very interesting investigations concerning the valve of the utricularia, differing in result from that arrived at by Mr. Darwin in his recent work on insectivorous plants.

In the "First Century Series," Edwin P. Whipple contributes the first of two papers on American Literature. The authorship of the article is a sufficient indication of its importance and interest.

The especially novel feature of this number is the first book of George Eliot's new novel, "Daniel Deronda"—a story of modern English life. This installment alone is sold in England for more than one dollar in gold, and is given simultaneously to the readers of Harper's Magazine, without materially diminishing the usual number or variety of the other contributions to that periodical.

Julian Hawthorne continues to contribute to Harper's Magazine the successive installments of "Garth"—the most important novel undertaken thus far by the most promising of American novelists.

Two excellent short stories are contributed to this number—"Poor Mary Ann," a touching Irish story, by Rose Terry Cooke; and "My Georgie," by Henrietta H. Holdich.

The poetry of the number is contributed by T. B. Aldrich, Will Wallace Harney, and Zadel B. Buddington.

The editorial departments admirably cover their respective fields of social gossip, literary criticism, scientific information, current history, and anecdote.

A MATCH FOR JIMMY BLANCHARD.—The attention of detectives was recently called to the fact that a very young girl, apparently not more than ten years of age, and of very bright appearance and richly dressed, had engaged a private box at the theatre for four successive nights this week, which she paid for herself and occupied with young companions. She was "shadowed," and her ways of life ascertained. They revealed an extravagance and independence unparalleled in one so young. She engaged hacks continually, sometimes paying as much as $15 and $20 per day for their hire alone, purchased furs, dress goods, diamonds and other jewelry, with a lavish hand, and was equally extravagant in other ways. There is an absolute knowledge that within a few months she had squandered upwards of $2700.

She is an heiress in her own right, and the moneys she obtained from her mother, who was her guardian, on various pretences, one that she was the favorite of a well known wealthy gentleman who invested it for her, and others that she needed it for books at school, contributions at Sunday school, and the like. She accounted for the articles of her purchase by saying that they were given to her by the gentleman above alluded to. The precocity of her powers of deceit and the plausibility of her representations were very wonderful for one so young, and her mother and grandfather were completely deceived. When the facts were made known by the confession of the girl in the presence of the detectives they were utterly astounded.—[Providence Journal.

THE ATLANTIC COAST LIFE SAVING SERVICE.—A Rider patent life raft was taken over the Old Colony Railroad today, which arrived in Fall River from New York on steamer Old Colony. It goes to life-saving station No. 5, District No. 2, located at Peaked Hill bar, Provincetown.

This raft is composed of two cylinders, made of soft and hard rubber and sail cloth combined, which are circled with strong hoops, so joined in the centre as to leave room for a substantial deck, which is fitted with seats, and other conveniences. Rails are run nearly the length of the cylinders, which serve as a keel when the raft is on the beach, and also, when afloat, for a purchase for the oars. The raft is 20 feet long, and 7 feet 6 inches beam, and weighs only 420 pounds.

The cylinders can be carried inflated or not, as space or convenience requires. The work of inflation requires only a few moments. The material withstands the heat of the tropics and the cold of the Arctic regions. It is easier handled than boats or any other raft, and it is almost impossible to overturn it. One or two men can put it overboard from a vessel, and it cannot be injured on coming in contact with a vessel's side, as its elasticity is great, and there is nothing to be easily broken.

It has lately been tried by the U. S. Life Station authorities, and is now being manufactured for the station. The Naval Department has also adopted it for war steamers, under the advice of Admiral Porter, who highly recommends it as the best life-saving apparatus made. For the service this one is intended for it is invaluable, as it is so easily put into the water, and can be handled with great ease, while its buoyancy is such that it can carry all that can get upon or cling to it.—[New Bedford Standard.

Tiverton Hights has a course of lectures commencing last night, at Whitridge hall. The Rev. Samuel Longfellow delivered the one last evening on Switzerland, and it was fine effort. The gentleman is well known as a scholar of profound culture. The hall is to be opened every Friday evening for entertainments, so that the dwellers there will not be lonely the present season, for the means of social enjoyment.

—Near the Atlantic House, the two-horse team of W. A. Barker ran away and came in collision with the wagon of the Adams Express Company. The latter had one of its springs broken and its sides crushed in. The colliding wagon was not damaged, but one of the horses was considerably damaged.

—The store of A. Spencer, on Bridge street, was entered yesterday afternoon through the back door and the money drawer robbed of about six dollars. Mr. Spencer, being a very aged gentleman, fell asleep and the thief, believed to be a boy, crept in and emptied the drawer.

—Philip Sherman, aged 83, who for half a century had been the sexton of the Second Baptist church and had cared for the grounds of the Friends' meeting house, was buried yesterday. The Rev. Hudson was promoted to be marker, vice Lawton promoted; Corporal George C. Shaw was promoted to be sergeant vice D. B. Peabody resigned; Private H. E. Turner, Jr., was promoted to be corporal vice Shaw promoted.

—The supplementary lecture course tickets are now for sale by the members of the committee, and also at Clarke's, Tilley's, Ward's, and Hammett's. The committee specially request those who have registered their names to procure their tickets at once, of the member of the committee who took their names, in order that there may be no confusion or error in delivering the tickets.

—Schooner J. P. Robinson, Harvey, master, reported ashore at Beaver Tail light, arrived here yesterday. Captain Harvey says the disaster was caused by the neglect of the keeper of the lighthouse in not attending properly to the fog horn as the vessel was lying in the vicinity for two hours and he did not hear it. The schooner came off without assistance, and leaking slightly.—[New York Herald, Feb. 1st.

—The case of milk adulteration reported in the DAILY NEWS of Monday has caused some excitement among milk dealers. The retailers intend to take measures to protect themselves from those they buy of. It is also proposed to have a milk inspector appointed by the city council, but as Prof. Doremus of New York has just been performing experiments with the lactometer showing it to be positively misleading it is not certain that an inspector of milk will remedy the evil complained of.

IMPORTANT TO MARINERS.—Last night two gentlemen coming from Sachuest beach saw from the top of the hill between the two beaches a bright light at some distance ahead of them. When they reached this end of Easton's beach they found it was a very large lantern, such as is sometimes used for illuminating grounds, carried by a man who was fishing. The attention of whoever it concerns is called to the fact that this large light could be seen a long distance out at sea, and might readily enough be mistaken for a permanent light, in which case great damage might be done. The light being occasionally obscured as it was carried along had all the effect of a revolving light and its power made it positively dangerous.

THE STATISTICS OF BIRTHS.—Mr. Clarence Stanhope, who was appointed to take the census of births in this city, from January 1st 1871 to December 31st 1875, has concluded his labors with the following result in wards, viz.:

| | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Males | 23 | 48 | 12 | 19 | 64 | 166 |
| Females | 33 | 13 | 9 | 28 | 70 | 183 |

Total births in the city......349

In addition to these he found fifteen others born within the dates mentioned above, in other places but whose parents have since removed here, as follows, viz: New York, 1; Charleston, S. C. 1; Somerville, S. C., 1; Harrisburgh, Pa., 3; Albany, 1; St. Martinsville, La., 1; St. Augustine, Fla., 2; Philadelphia, 1; Middletown, 1; Jamestown, 1; Torpedo Station, 1; Total, 15. He also found thirteen who were omitted by the enumeration for 1873 and 1874.

At the unheard of hour of ten minutes of nine o'clock the council adjourned till the first Tuesday evening of March at halfpast seven.

STATE MISCELLANY.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spencer of Central Falls have celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage.

The body of Miss Julia Gregg was found in a disused well in Burrellville on Saturday, having been missing three weeks. She committed suicide while temporarily insane.

Brown College's new library building at Providence is to be made of pressed brick, freestone and iron, and will cost $75,000, and will have a capacity for 125,000 volumes.

Mrs. Frances J. Vinton of Providence made a donation last week of $1000 to the Home for Aged Men in that city. Nine others ladies in that city have given liberal sums to the same institution.

The murder and attempted suicide at the Portsmouth coal mines, last Summer, was called to mind Tuesday in the senate, by the presentation of an account by a Portsmouth constable for services and expenses in the case of Casey the murderer. Casey shot his wife and then attempted to kill himself. In the latter attempt he failed, although he wounded himself so severely that his removal to jail was considered unsafe by the physicians. So this constable had Casey on his hands for two or three weeks, and was obliged to spend money and perform services not exactly contemplated when he was appointed to office, and there is no law by which he can be recompensed, so the Assembly is asked to relieve him to the amount of $65.50. The matter was referred to the committee on accounts.

WINSLOW AS A COMMENTATOR.—Many of the books that composed the library of Ezra D. Winslow, at the time when his house in Auburndale was destroyed by fire, have been blown about the neighborhood. Some of them are without covers; others are torn and rendered nearly illegible by the snow and ice and exposure to all sorts of weather influences. One of these, "Baker's Guide Book in the Illustration of the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church," was found in his yard by Mr. Thomas Hall, one of Winslow's neighbors, Sunday morning. The book was without cover, and was frozen open at a portion where there were several lines underscored. It is supposed that Winslow had studied the book in preparing his defence on the occasion of his impeachment by the New England conference. All through the book Mr. Hall discovered passages full of significance, underscored and commented on in Winslow's handwriting. A few of them are appended: "But it requires that strong testimony should not be withheld when it is known to be in possession of the party. The design in this case is evidently 'fraudulent;'" "In our courts one witness, if his testimony is corroborated by strong collateral circumstances, is sufficient to establish the fact;" "No question should be put to a witness the relevancy of which does not appear;" "No witnesses are compelled to answer such questions."

When Mr. Hall found the book it was open at the following passage, which was also marked by Winslow: "No persons convicted of flagrant crimes, as felony, perjury, forgery, etc., are deemed competent to testify before a civil tribunal; nor should they be listened to in an ecclesiastical investigation unless they have been reformed in their morals."—[Boston Herald.

Winslow had been compelled by the conference to give up his papers as a minister some time before his criminal practices were discovered.

NEEDLEWORK IN FRENCH CONVENTS

France, as every one well knows, is preeminently the land of fine linen. From a child's pinafore to a cardinal's surplice every article of wearing apparel that linen can be turned into is the object of the greatest care and elaboration; and few English women quit French territory without providing themselves with choice specimens of French lingerie. To understand, however, the enormous labor bestowed upon that portion of female dress it is necessary to see a trousseau in hand, and to see this it is necessary to enter a convent. We enter, then, a large, airy, whitewashed room with crucifix over the mantelpiece and religious mottoes painted on the walls. It has large windows on each side, and seldom any kind of curtain to keep off the dazzling light of midday summer. Sitting on high benches without backs are twenty, thirty, fifty girls as the case may be, of all ages from four and a half to twenty one, busily plying their needles. At each end of the room presides a sister, and her quaint nun's garb is the only break in the prevailing monotony—a large, bare, overlighted room, rows of little children and young girls in white caps, blue checked dresses and white aprons, who stitch away silently, almost automatically, while the bright Summer hours pass by. As we enter they rise, and remain standing while we inspect the work. The sister takes us from one little needlewoman to another, proudly exhibiting the stitches or folds or embroidery she has in hand. Their finished garments are produced, and we gaze in wonder first at the elaborate piece of needlework and then at the feeble looking workers who have produced it. In one instance a visitor and his little girl were of the party, when the comic and pathetic were combined, the sister, with ingenuous simplicity, offering for his inspection articles of female apparel generally supposed mysterious to the other sex; while it was touching to see the wistful look of those orphan children—children, did we say?—of those living machines—at the happy little girl who had for five minutes quitted the world of sport and sunshine and flowers for this dreary prison. These orphans are waifs and strays collected from Paris and the neighboring country, and, inspecting them narrowly, it was easy to see by their weak eyes, narrow chests and stooping shoulders how much their unnatural life telling upon a physique already but too predisposed to sickness and debility.—[Pall Mall Gazette.

One of De Quincey's great faults was his inability to adapt his conversation to the intelligence of his hearer. He would address a servant-maid or a porter in the most extravagant diction. While stopping at Professor Wilson's, he once gave the cook some directions as to the way in which he wished his meat cut with the grain or fibre, instead of across it, and he delivered himself as follows:—"Owing to dyspepsia afflicting my system, and the possibility of any additional derangement of the stomach taking place, consequences incalculably distressing would arise; so much so, indeed, as to increase nervous irritation, and prevent me from attending to matters of overwhelming importance, if you do not remember to cut the mutton in a diagonal rather than in a longitudinal form."

CANDLEMAS DAY.—Today, Feb. 2d, commonly called the Purification of St. Mary the Virgin, or Candlemas day, is the time to remove all Christmas greens and special Christmas decorations from our windows and houses, as on this day our Lord was presented by His mother in the Temple, which closes the special services relating to the birth and infancy of our Saviour.

There is no person living but what suffers more or less with Lung Diseases, Coughs, Colds or Consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 75 cents for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wondrous cures astonish every one that tries it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your Druggist, James H. Taylor and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it. Two doses will relieve you. Regular size 75 cents.

Strengthening the Hold on Life.

Life is dear to most, if not all of us, and those whose tenure of it is rendered uncertain by feeble health, would gladly strengthen their hold upon existence. The best advice that can be given to the debilitated is to invigorate with that sovereign vitalizer, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which fertilizes the blood by ensuring complete nutrition, and is an excellent remedy for those maladies which are the main causes of physical weakness. Indigestion, inactivity of the liver, urinary troubles, rheumatic complaints, and many other ailments and disabilities are speedily conquered by this safe, prompt and agreeable corrective tonic, which is, besides, a reliable preventive of chills and fever, and other malarial disorders, counteracts and effects of fatigue and exposure, and is a beneficial solace to the aged and infirm. feb2 ed&1w

What is the value of life? Gold cannot measure it. Yet when menaced by a violent cough or cold, or any disease leading to consumption, a single dollar invested in HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR will unquestionably preserve it.

Preservation of the sight.

The loss of sight is one of the greatest misfortunes which can befall a human being, and those who have found means to scientifically lessen the calamity are public benefactors. The Spencer Optical Manufacturing Company of New York, have done this by the introduction of the "Diamond Spectacles" which have had such an extensive use as to prove their value. The genuine "Diamonds" are sold by the advertised agents, and will always be found just what they are represented to be.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents. aug3-1yr.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEA WEED TONIC, AND MANDRAKE PILLS.—These deservedly celebrated and popular medicines have effected a revolution in the healing art, and proved the fallacy of several maxims which have for many years obstructed the progress of medical science. The false supposition that "Consumption is incurable" deterred physicians from attempting to find remedies for that disease, and patients afflicted with it reconciled themselves to death without making an effort to escape from a doom which they supposed to be unavoidable. It is now proved, however, that Consumption can be cured, and that it has been cured in a very great number of cases (some of them apparently desperate ones) by Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, one or both, according to the requirements of the case.

Dr. Schenck himself, who enjoyed uninterrupted good health for more than forty years, was supposed at one time to be at the very gate of death, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless, and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and, since his recovery, many thousands similarly affected have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his principal office, Corner Sixth and Arch Sts., Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. Schenck's medicines are sold by all druggists. jan6-1m-do

GENERAL NEWS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.

The proceedings of chief interest in the House today were a general debate on the Presidential term question and the consideration of a bill reported by Mr. Pierce from the committee on commerce, to restore the Boston ship Arctic to American registry. There was no opposition to restoring the Arctic, hers being a peculiar case, but Fernando Wood and Mr. Conger took occasion to declare themselves against any general restoration of American vessels which during the war changed their registry and flag to avoid capture by the rebel cruisers. Wood's objection was that such vessels ought to be punished for denationalizing themselves to escape the consequences of war, and Conger's that old vessels should not be reinstituted because it would hurt the ship-building business. Wood retorted upon Conger by saying that what hurt ship-building most was the tariff proposed by Conger's party on ship-building materials, and Wood was answered forcibly by Kasson, who asked if the owners of the vessels in question committed a wrong against the United States when they saved their property from going to the bottom by the only possible means left to them.

Destitute Indians.

A deputation of seven or eight Chippewa Indians, representing a band of two or three thousand living in northern Dakota, are here to beg succor for their people, who are literally starving. These Indians have never made a treaty with the government, nor have they ever been in any way dependent. Hitherto they have supported themselves by hunting, but the gradual encroachments of settlers have at last deprived them of this source of subsistence, and they are driven to the direst extremity. They want to make a treaty, but the law of 1872 forbids, and there is no fund from which money can be legally drawn for their support. They are now quartered at the Washington House, and the Indian committee is in a quandary to know what to do in the matter.

FROM NEW YORK.

The Case of Duncan, Sherman & Co., before the Supreme Court.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.

The case of Duncan, Sherman & Co., was argued before Judge Barrett in the supreme court chambers, today, on a motion to vacate the order of arrest against members of that firm obtained by Messrs. Roehling, on a protested letter of credit on the Union Bank of London for £295. Affidavits of members and employes of the firm were put in evidence denying that there was any concealment of the transfers of property. In opposition to the motion the counsel for the other side denied the power of the court to open the order, and read affidavits contradicting the allegations in the morning papers. Decision reserved.

Another Clerical Wrangle.

The reports of the Baptist meeting yesterday show another wrangle, and the Sun and Herald say that the Rev. Mr. Fulton called the Rev. Dr. Thomas a liar. After several interruptions by Mr. Fulton, the address which the conference had invited him to deliver was read by Dr. Jaffrey.

Heavy Defalcation.

Harvey N. Readway, the treasurer of St. Lawrence county in this state, is reported to be a defaulter to the extent of $35,000. Readway held the position eighteen years, and was universally respected and trusted. The county will suffer no loss.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

TUESDAY, Feb. 1.

SENATE.

Mr. Church presented the account of Benjamin Tallman, a constable of the town of Portsmouth, for services and expenses in the care of Robert S. Casey. This Casey, it will be remembered, is the fellow who, in June last, shot and killed his wife, and then shot himself at Portsmouth. Mr. Tallman took charge of him, and was obliged to keep him until, in the opinion of the attending physicians, he was sufficiently recovered to be removed to the county jail. For these services and his expenses, he asks the payment by the state of $65 50. Referred to the committee on accounts.

HOUSE.

Mr. Cooke reported from the joint special committee on property liable to and exempt from taxation, the report of the committee and the act in relation thereto, recommending its passage. By consent the reading of the report was dispensed with, and the act was only read. The act is as follows:

AN ACT,

To define exemptions from taxation, and to repeal Chapter 38 of the General Statutes, "Of property liable to be exempt from taxation."

It is enacted by the General Assembly as follows:

SECTION 1. All real property in the state, and all personal property belonging to the inhabitants thereof, shall be liable to taxation, unless otherwise specially provided.

SEC. 2. The following property and no other shall be exempt from taxation:

Property belonging to the state;

Land ceded and belonging to the United States;

Houses for schools, academies and colleges, owned by any town or corporation;

Houses for religious worship;

Houses owned by incorporated library societies; or free public library societies.

Houses owned by incorporated charitable societies; but only so far as such houses shall be held, occupied and used for the purposes aforesaid;

All the appurtenances belonging to houses so held, occupied and used;

Provided, That the land under such buildings or used in connection therewith, shall not be exempted, except when owned by a town or school district and used for public school purposes;

Lots of land used exclusively for burial grounds;

Lands of the Narragansett tribe of Indians, held by the tribe or in severalty, according to their usages, but not including any land owned in fee simple by a member of the tribe;

Provided, That such land so owned in fee simple shall not be liable to taxation for the support of the poor, or the erection or repair of school houses, or the support of public schools;

Almshouses and the land and buildings used in connection therewith, except that almshouse estates shall be subject to taxation for school purposes, in the school districts in which they are situated;

The estate of any person who, in the judgment of the assessors, is unable from infirmity or poverty to pay the tax.

SEC. 3. Chapter 38 of the General Statutes, and all acts of a public or private nature, exempting property from taxation, so far as the same are inconsistent herewith, are hereby repealed.

Mr. Cooke then delivered a long speech in favor of the bill, particularly in favor of taxing church property.

After Mr. Cooke's speech Mr. Sheffield, of Newport, said that the distribution of the burdens of government is one of the most difficult things that occupy the attention. How are we using those which have been handed down to us? He stood to oppose the bill and to take the side of the forefathers. After speaking at some length of the laws of the United States in reference to taxation, and the decision of the federal courts as to what shall be taxed, he spoke of the laws which had come down to us from our venerable forefathers. The committee have performed but half the work assigned them. They were charged to inquire as to the liability to be taxed, and they ignored this liability entirely, and only considered the exemption. The constitution has charged us to see that the people have education and are prevented from crime, and it is impossible to do this if the religious and educational institutions of the state go to decay and ruin. We cannot maintain a republican government without the principles of religion and education. Churches and schools are the right hands of government, and without them we cannot carry it on. France tried to do so, and the result was the bloody revolution. The state is called upon by this bill to burden its hands and take on a weight which will bear it down. We are called upon to oppress institutions of religion, charity and education, to crush them into earth and try to make our state what France was. The bill is not in accordance with the genius of our institutions or with broad statesmanship. He spoke of taxing books in severe terms, and then said that the state had no right to pass any ex post facto law to impair obligation of contracts which this bill did in annulling a bill by which some institutions were exempted by their charters. The state is for the protection of persons and property, and those institutions which show us the path of duty are aiding the government in doing this work. He spoke of the good influence of Brown University and other educational institutions. In reference to Mr. Cooke's remarks as to Catholics the speaker said that he thought a priest in a neighborhood was worth three or four policemen, and if it were not for the priests we should have a population in our state exceedingly hard to manage. He wanted the priests to keep their hands out of public schools, and he wanted them to keep their people in order. The speaker made quite a long speech protesting against the passage of the bill, which he claimed was wrong, unjust and unconstitutional, and which would destroy the beneficial influence of religious and educational institutions and thereby harm the state beyond measure.

The bill was further discussed by Mr. Van Slyck, of Providence. He favored the bill and offered an amendment that the libraries of all public institutions should be exempt from taxation. After some discussion by Messrs. Aldrich and Rogers, of Providence, Mr. Clarke presented an amendment to Mr. Van Slyck's amendment, which exempted from taxation "Houses owned by incorporated libraries and houses and libraries of free public library societies." The amendment was accepted, and the original amendment withdrawn. Mr. Clarke's amendment was then adopted, and the bill as amended was passed by a sweeping majority, only about half a dozen members voted in the negative.

Mr. Pratt, of Newport, presented the petition of numerous citizens of Newport for an appropriation of $5,000 for the Newport Artillery to pay the expense of a visit to Philadelphia on July 4th, 1876. The petition represents that the Artillery Company is the oldest in the state, and served during the past year without pay.

STRAW BIDS.—Among the reforms which are hoped for from the present Congress, the elimination of straw bidders for fat post office contracts takes a leading place, and the committee having that subject in charge will hear from Mr. Jewell, an explanation of the pernicious system. The way in which mail-carrying contractors have swindled the public and the government is as yet known only in a general way, but enough is assured to stamp the practice as thoroughly disreputable and corrupt. The contractor makes arrangements with his numerous agents when the bids are sent into the Post Office Department. Perhaps he agrees to perform the service for twice what it is worth; one of his agents bids about its true value, another half and so on. The lowest bidder secures the contract, gives his bond and tries it for a few months, then says he cannot do the work at the price contracted for, forfeits his bond and retires. The Postmaster-General then has to come back upon the next lowest, but he does not want the contract, nor do any of the intermediate bidders until the original contractor is reached, who consents to carry the mails for several times the true value of the service. The intention of the committee is to break up this system and punish those who have assisted in making it successful. If this can be done, perhaps the Postmaster-General will be able to make reduced appropriations go further than the largest sums have hitherto done.

Chinese hotels have raised their rates, and it now costs twenty-two cents a day to stop around a first-class house.

FIRE ALARM REGULATIONS.

To send out an alarm.

Any person who discovers a fire is requested to immediately give the alarm by crying fire, and, going to the box nearest the fire, to send out a general alarm by procuring the key, unlocking the box, and firmly putting the hook down, once only, then closing the door, being careful to see that it is locked, and returning the key.

The person sending out an alarm from a box is requested to remain near said box until the first engine arrives, to direct the firemen to the exact locality of the fire.

Cautions.

Never pull a box if the small gong inside is striking or the machinery of the box is heard running.

Do not pull a box for a fire seen at a distance, or unless you are aware of the locality of a fire.

Key holders are requested not to allow their keys to be taken except by responsible parties.

Bell Ringers.

Bell ringers are engaged to ring the following church bells in connection with the telegraph alarm :—

The First and North Baptist, United Congregational and Emmanuel with instructions to ring their respective bells for five minutes immediately after the telegraphic alarm has completed its four rounds and then to repeat eight times the number of the box from which the alarm is sent.

Recall.

Nine blows upon the telegraphic alarm bells will indicate that the fire is out and that the services of the department are not required.

Testing the Apparatus.

One stroke on the bells by the telegraphic alarm will simply indicate that the apparatus is in good order.

LOCATION OF BOXES AND KEYS.

Box No. 2.—On Lysander Stevens's house, Thames street, opposite Bridge street.

EMBROIDERY.

A delightful field is open to women, one in which they would be sure to find pleasant employment, and where certain faculties they have peculiar to their sex would be exercised and made useful. This is the art of embroidery. "What!" all the women will cry at once. "Embroidery, do you say? And aren't we embroidering all the year round—slippers and smoking caps, lambrequins and table cloths, chair covers, and foot warmers? Embroidery, forsooth! Oh, here's a discovery!" But this writer makes bold to confess he was not thinking of any of these unhappy productions of misplaced womanly labor when he spoke of embroidery. If he was recommending a young man to study literature he would not expect to be put down by the young man's assurance that he read three newspapers every day. There is no such waste of time, money, and patience as the worsted work and embroidery to which our ladies give up so much of their leisure. It isn't beautiful, it isn't useful, and it stands much in the way of educating the eye and the general taste. Of course, girls will always make slippers and smoking caps for young men—at least I hope so; they enjoy making them, and the young men are not what I take 'em for if they don't enjoy getting them. There is no reason whatever why these things should not be well designed; but they never will be so long as the girls are so wanting in taste as to put up with the patterns they find in the shops. I suppose, however, if the young men and maidens were not so easily pleased, or had a taste of their own, there would be a supply of patterns to meet a more exacting demand. So long as people are in the infantile state of mind that is pleased with little imps and devils careering over slipper toes, or chasing one another along a lambrequin, or with foxes' heads and tails, hunting caps and whips, or with any of the whole catalogue we all know so well, not much can be hoped for. But the advice to take up embroidery did not have reference to little love-and-friendship tokens of the cap-and-slipper trade. It was intended to apply to more serious works, such as coverings for furniture, hangings for doors or walls, and the like. Since things took a turn in England, and the arts of furniture and house decoration began to interest artists and architects, and the new doctrine found a sacred poet to father it and save it from sinking into trade and commonplace, the arts of embroidery have been inspired with new life, and have enlisted in their service a number of good talents, who have not only given pleasure to the public, but have found pleasure and profit in it for themselves.—[Scribner's.

President Stearns of Amherst College, in a recent lecture before his class, deprecated the present system of education as injurious to the memory. He said the Hindus transmitted without error the three books of the Vedas, one of which consists of 1010 hymns, through the centuries till Solomon's time, about 1000 before Christ, by memory alone, acquiring them from oral instruction—a thing which has no parallel at the present day. The multiplicity of subjects now presented to the scholar, he thought, rendered the acquisition of a retentive memory next to impossible.

Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved Inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents; as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
